Based on the brand-new show, Today is Getting Married, on Channel 4! Over the summer, we'll be filming live at the wedding of two brilliant locals – Matthew and Annabel. The show will follow the couple during the days leading up to their wedding and on the big day itself, as they document the preparations and celebrations. A job for a journalist – isn't it a little too exciting? Here are some of the twists and turns to expect. 'Be a part of our story.' Each week, Matthew and Annabel will be in charge of a different room. They'll talk to the professionals in each room to find out what they'll need to do before the day. This means they'll be finding out how to make the perfect cake, what flowers would be best or even what colour the wedding dress will be. Every person involved is part of the story, from the florist, to the venue's cleaners and the wedding photographer – and everyone will be integral to their preparation. 'It doesn't have to be about you.' There'

The PIM oncogene has been isolated as a downstream target of two receptor tyrosine kinases, PDGF receptor and IR (insulin receptor). Products of PIM oncogenes bind and phosphorylate the SH2-containing signaling protein Src homology 2 domain-containing tyrosine phosphatase 2 (SHP2). We have cloned and mapped a novel product of PIM, the novel protein PRL2 (product of PIM locus 2), which has sequence similarities to SH2 domains. The cDNA structure of the PRL2 locus has been elucidated and both of the products have been studied in vitro. The expression of PRL2 mRNA and protein has been demonstrated in human and murine lymphoid tissues by in situ hybridization and immunoblotting of tissues with polyclonal antibodies to PRL2. A human chromosome translocation with breakpoints in chromosome 6q23 and 8p22-23 resulting in PRL2 over-expression was identified in a non-Hodgkin lymphoma patient. The presence of a translocation involving the PRL2 locus in vivo suggests that PRL2 may be involved in the control of lymphocyte development.Trained electrical responders for the 1911 act The Federal Government is to give the nation's emergency services the right to use the 1911 act to
