In an ASP.NET MVC3 form, I have created a table of links that I want to unbind the click event handler on. The table of links has a primary key called Id and when I click on it, it performs a.hide() using jquery. And when I submit the form, it performs an.unhide(). The Problem is, when the form gets submitted, it re-binds the click event to the link. How can I avoid this? Here is the code: 77a5ca646e
