Tuesday, April 25, 2018 The loons of the left have already declared that this has set the stage for a GOP landslide. This is just another iteration of the "America is falling apart" theme that is the center of so much Dems. messaging these days. Or maybe not. The Washington Post reported yesterday (7-25-2018) that the number of illegal aliens that have been caught by the Border Patrol in fiscal year 2018 is tied to the lowest since records were first compiled 20 years ago. In FY 2018, U.S. authorities apprehended 27,000 illegal aliens, a historic low. "I'm just really excited about it," U.S. Customs and Border Protection spokeswoman Cristina Peschker told reporters in Washington. "I've heard agents say, 'Yeah, it's a good morning for all of us.'" Apparently, they are so pleased with the drop in border crossings, that they have decided to have fewer agents manning the border. This reduction was offset by a small increase in agents catching illegal aliens at the border in California. So the point is, it really doesn't matter what the president or Congress does when it comes to the border; enforcement has been brought to historic lows even while the problem continues to grow. What this will mean in the long run is that Congress could pass a series of "fix-it" laws that are quite content to have illegal aliens not only living in the U.S., but costing Americans jobs (or other things) while at the same time having fewer agents to enforce the laws we already have on the books. It is a problem because they make the laws so difficult to enforce. Remember, we are talking about people who have bypassed these laws and are choosing to just live in the U.S. illegally because it just so happens to be a lot easier than other choices they could be making. But, those border numbers aren't the only thing affecting the long term situation. The Washington Post reported (7-25-2018) that the number of legal immigration given the various family immigration categories has fallen to its lowest levels in more than half a century. Legal immigrants are people who are allowed to come to the U.S., and it is a pretty safe bet that there are not as many foreign countries flooding into the U.S. sending away their own citizens who can come to the U.S. But, remember,
