The data was captured using the new Oculus Touch controllers, which allow players to interact with the virtual FIFA world by manipulating the game through natural, intuitive movements. Look out for more technical details on the FIFA Player Impact Engine closer to the game's release! HyperMotion Soccer Ready to take on the challenges of the new FIFA franchise? We thought so. Welcome to your first step onto the pitch. You're the new No.22 of your favourite club, and it's time to earn your stripes. To start, you'll get to perform some familiar drills and training exercises. Here, you'll put your new education to the test by completing a series of drills at full speed and then posing for a mock photoshoot. Let your hair down Now that you've prepared your muscles, you're ready to step on to the pitch. This is where you'll see your first FIFA title of this year. Rugby-style tackle and passes are the name of the game here: the first method we'll see you work in is the rugby tackle, which allows you to perform a full, active tackle with your feet planted to the turf. The rugby tackle is set up to encourage you to beat your opponent to the ball and drive it into the opposition's goal to secure possession. Passing is the next big feature in motion capture soccer. You'll see yourself get the ball at your feet and be given the option to make a controlled, accurate pass. It's important to note that FIFA 22 takes playing passes very seriously. You're presented with a menu of 20 realistic attack options, in terms of foot direction and style. At the same time, you'll see yourself giving a variety of different passes. We'll also teach you how to play certain passes in 3D, using the Virtual Trainer, and then immerse you in football matches to allow you to pick up more of the subtle game play skills. Play like Messi FIFA 22 provides the tools you need to make yourself into the next great star of the game. Featuring the new 4K Presentation Engine, we're taking real-time motion capture to the next level. This new engine is so advanced that we could split a tennis ball into four billion pieces and use them all individually to recreate the exact movements,
