The diagnosis and treatment of pediatric T1 glottic carcinomas. Primary T1 glottic carcinomas (T1-GCCs) in children are relatively uncommon. The management of these neoplasms presents an opportunity to test the role of conservative treatment, be it radiotherapy or surgery, in selected cases. The authors have compiled their experience with this tumor type and aimed to analyze their results. This retrospective study examines the diagnosis and treatment of primary T1-GCC in children aged 0 to 16 years treated between January 1990 and December 2003. Nine patients were identified with a median age of 10.8 years. All received irradiation and eight underwent immediate laryngectomy. Two patients had undergone prior radiation therapy to the neck and five had positive nodes at diagnosis. Six patients were salvaged with laryngeal conservation. Eight patients had no evidence of local failure. Two patients had regional relapse and one had distant failure. Five patients were alive and free of disease. No patient was alive and free of disease 5 years after treatment. All patients with laryngeal conservation had excellent voice outcomes. Local control can be achieved in selected cases of primary T1-GCC, but there is a high rate of nodal metastases at presentation. Pediatric T1 glottic carcinomas are predominantly managed by laryngeal conservation, with excellent voice outcomes in those treated with radiotherapy.

Q: How to use 8 bit to 5 bit decoder for 5 bit data with 8 bit mode digital input I want to make a 8 bit digital input mode with 5 bit decoder with 8 bit decoder. The decoder is for the example supposed to accept '0001' for 8 bit mode digital input and '011' for 5 bit data. The problem is: If I make digital input from input pins, I don't know how to have to program in decoder to receive this value as the second value. A: You will need a serial to parallel converter (CODEC) to decode 8 bit signals as 5 bit signals. I'm not sure what Arduino you are using but most of them have serial to parallel converters that use resistors or some logic gates to change data line to parallel data. Some of them even have built in converters, check your documentation. Once you convert the serial signals to parallel, your decoder should work pretty well.

Down-regulation of Tumor-Infiltrating Lymphocytes and High Reactive Mutation Potentials in Tongue Squamous Cell Carcinoma. We investigated the expression of programmed death ligand 1 (PD-L1) and reactive oxygen species (ROS) in tongue squamous cell carcinoma (TSCC) tissues and TSCC cell lines and the association between PD-L1 and ROS with the patients' clinicopathologic characteristics. We detected the expression of PD-L1 and ROS in TSCC cell lines and investigated the influence of PD-L1 on TSCC progression in vitro and in vivo. We also compared expression of PD-L1 and ROS between adjacent non-tumor tissue and tumor tissue, and we analyzed correlations between PD-L1 expression and ROS production in tumor tissue. Low expression of PD-L1 and high expression of ROS were observed in TSCC cell lines. Moreover
