Q: Arbitrary Validator in Rust I'm trying to implement an Arbitrary Validator in Rust to validate some FFI parameters and got the following type definitions:

extern crate rand; use rand::Rng; use std::ops::Range; use std::fmt::Debug; type SmallInt = u64; struct Arbitrary { value: T, rng: &mut Rng, } impl Arbitrary { pub fn new(value: T, rng: &mut Rng) -> Arbitrary { Arbitrary { value, rng: rng, } } pub fn arbitr_validate(&self, _: &T) -> Option { let (min, max) = self.value.arbitr_validate(); if self.rng.gen::<(min, max)>.unwrap_or(0) == 0 { None } else { Some(E::BAD_SIZE(self.value.as_slice())) } } }

and the Arbitrary Validation trait which is defined by another library

trait ArbitraryValidation { fn arb_validate(&self, _arg: &T); }

and is being applied here

impl ArbitraryValidation for Arbitrary where T: Arbitrary + Debug + 'static,
